Common Core State Standards Parent Leadership Training Program

Los Angeles Education Partnership has launched a newly designed curriculum that combines parent leadership training with the Common Core State Standards.

The Parent Leadership Training program consist of a series of four 2-hour sessions providing parents of Middle and High School-age children with parenting and collaborative school-home intervention skills needed to effectively support the Common Core at home.

The goals of the training is for parents to successfully support their child's academic success in becoming college and career ready. While providing parents with the tools to become effective leaders and advocates of the Common Core State Standards.
